INSTRUCTIONS AND GUIDELINES TO THE EXAMINERS

1. This is a confidential document to be used only for the purpose of marking the Question paper-cum-Answer Booklet at the Evaluation Centre. This document should neither be taken out of the Evaluation Centre nor shared /published on any form of social media.
2. Marking of answer scripts is a job of immense responsibility. You are, therefore, required to go through the instructions and guidelines given here very carefully before the commencement of the marking of Question paper-cum- Answer Booklet.
3. The rubric given in the Answer Key has to be followed for evaluating the Question Paper-cum-Answer Booklet for every subject/paper.
4. The rubrics for subjects like Indian Languages (except Mizo and Lepcha), Elective English, Accounts, Mathematics, and Indian Music Hindustani must be followed carefully. If a candidate attempts all the questions on all texts/ sections, then the texts/ sections in which the candidate has scored the best should be accepted.
5. Marking should be done distinctly in red ink in the examiner's own handwriting.
6. You are required to mark all the questions attempted by the candidates. It is advised that the marks obtained by the candidates on each page should be written and circled at the bottom of every page.
7. In case, a candidate has written more than one answer to a question and struck them off, the examiner should mark the answer that the candidate has NOT been struck off.

An example of the same is given below.

Answer: ~~(c)~~ (d) ~~(a)~~

8. In case, a candidate has written multiple answers to a question and not struck off any of them, the examiner should NOT accept any of the answers and award zero for the same.

An example of the same is given below.

Answer: (c) (d) (a)

9. The total marks obtained by a candidate must be calculated by adding the marks awarded for all the required parts and sub-parts.
10. It must be ensured that every question and sub-part of the question have been evaluated and marks awarded.
11. If a mark needs to be corrected, care must be taken that the new figure is written clearly. No overwriting should be done.
12. The examiner should write the marks obtained by the candidates on the cover page of the Question Paper-cum-Answer Booklet in a clear and neat way in his/her own handwriting.
13. Please note that no error should be made while calculating the total marks obtained by the candidates. Examiners are responsible for the accuracy of their evaluation and award of marks.
14. The total marks obtained by the candidate should be written and encircled on the top sheet. The same should be written in words also.

Example:

forty eight

15. You are required to sign and put the date below the total marks circled on the top sheet.
