VICE CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Professor (Dr.) V. C. Vivekanandan

Hidayatullah National Law University established as the sixth law University in the country way back in 2003 has established a niche for itself. The University undergraduate programmes with specialized honours degrees in law and major-minor dichotomy in social sciences is a differentiator laying the foundation of academic rigour, experiential learning and core competencies expected from a professional practitioner of law. This foundation has shown the results through its successful Alumni in diverse career achievements of legal practice, judicial appointments, academic excellence and public policy forays in the past.

HNLU is no exception to the global pandemic impact, however the University has quickly and efficiently responded on digital deliverables of online classes and evaluation. The digital acclimatization resulted in designing and delivering various programmes like Ex-ARCA – a platform for special lectures, Lex OSMOSE – single credit -non CGPA online courses, Alma MATTERS- a alumni platform to motivate the student community, HNLU Press – a open access multimedia division have been successfully launched and all set to scale up in the coming months.

The batch of 2022 is embarking on recruitment process raising the bar of standards set by their seniors by presenting their dynamic and diverse professional attributes to the potential recruiters. The students of this batch symbolize resilience and adaptability as they stand the test of these times. The one aspect which will distinguish HNLU from other law schools is that of the creative student community with a diverse background evolving as technically sound, professionally competent and most importantly socially sensitive lawyers. I have witnessed in them as individuals with a professional approach yet maintaining the compassion to serve the society at large through this noble profession.

The in-depth curriculum, regular virtual classes, evaluation process through critical essays have prepared them as professionals to handle a myriad of challenges. The University distinguished itself as the one which sends more students to international moots, conferences, workshops and seminars giving a wider perspective of knowledge and diversity. The organizational skills are manifest in hosting the nation-wide signature events like HNLU Moot, Cultural and Sports event of Colossus, intensive legal aid camps, community health contribution like blood donations to name a few has shaped the fully mature personality out of them.

I am pretty confident that they will excel and prove worthy of the expectations of recruiters across the nation and wish them the best in the career and in their personal life.
