Ans. The cow refused to get up because it was in a bad mood.

2. Name those who tried to make the cow move?

Ans. Milkman, policeman, grocer, ice-cream man, wrestler and a little boy.

3. Who finally made the cow get up and how?

Ans. A little boy finally made the cow get up. He gave the cow a bundle of green grass.

The cow immediately got up and began to chew the grass. The boy then led her (the cow) to the side.

Let's Talk

1. As I walked to my school I saw...

Take turns to continue the story of the cow on the road. Each child can say one line till the story is complete.

Ans. Do it yourself.

2. We can make people do more things with kindness than with cruelty or force. Do you agree? What do you think? Tell the class about a time when you were kind to an animal.

Ans. I agree that we can make people do more things with kindness than with cruelty or force. This is what we see in the lesson. What to talk of humans even animals follow the language of love and kindness.

Once I was going to my friend's house when I saw an injured puppy. I picked it up and brought to my house. I washed the wound and wrapped a bandage around it. I gave it bread and milk and kept it at my house for three days.

3. Do you do an action always in the same way?

(a) How do you talk to visitors?

(b) How do you talk to your friends in the playground?

Read and Enjoy

Here is a limerick to make you laugh.

There was an old man who said, "How Shall I flee from that horrible cow?"

I will sit on the stile,

And continue to smile,

Which may soften the heart of the cow".

1. Do you think if the man smiles at the angry cow she will be kind to him?

Ans. I don't think like this. The cow looks angry and a simple smile can do nothing.
